Job Development in Rural America: A Maine and Tennessee Experience

Living in a rural area has its challenges, including transportation and the small number of jobs available. The Employment First State Leadership Mentoring Program (EFSLMP) Community of Practice has arranged for a presentation which will offer tips on how to develop jobs in rural areas. Webinar objectives include:

- Recognizing the growing employment disparity for rural Americans with disabilities and what can we do to positively impact it;
- Addressing the challenges and opportunities of job development in rural areas - focusing on issues such as poor economies, transportation barriers, and community inclusion as a pathway to jobs; and
- Understanding the role technology can play in successful employment outcomes

The webinar is scheduled for June 12, 2019 at 2:00pm. The webinar can be attended by accessing the following link :Job Development in Rural America
