Technology First Initiative

The Division of Developmental Disabilities' Technology First initiative promotes the use of assistive technology services to enhance the quality of life for individuals who receive DD services. This video, produced by Missouri Inclusive Housing Development Corporation, features Valerie Huhn, the Director of the Division of DD, explaining the Technology First initiative, and its importance for those individuals receiving services in Missouri. The video also highlights several individuals who explain how assistive technology has helped them achieve greater independence and freedom in their lives. Please watch and learn more about this exciting initiative.
