COVID-19: Dealing with Our Current Reality
Wednesday, May 6, 2020 - 2:00 to 3:00 PM (central)

The evolving pandemic has employment service providers operating in a variety of modes. With some restrictions beginning to be lifted, some providers may begin to offer services in person, while others will continue to provide services primarily remotely. This session will be a facilitated discussion among attendees to hear from each other about how the evolving situation is impacting them and what they are doing at this stage to continue to provide services and supports. Shared strategies will include providing person-centered planning, discovery, and employment exploration remotely.
