Assistive Technology Reimbursement Program

For students with an Individualized Education Program (IEP)

The Assistive Technology Reimbursement (ATR) Program is accepting applications for the 2022-23 school year. The ATR program provides reimbursement to school districts for the purchase of assistive technology devices and systems.

The program is open to any student who has an IEP and attends a public, charter, or State School for the Severely Disabled. The student's IEP must indicate assistive technology is required and either a device trial or relevant evaluation conducted. Requested assistive devices or system should cost between $350 and $5,000. Instructional software and therapeutic equipment are NOT eligible for reimbursement.

Examples of assistive devices eligible for reimbursement include augmentative and communication devices, braille note takers, embossers, text-to-speech software, iPads with assistive apps, electronic enlargers, personal FM systems, computer adaptations, etc. ATR is made possible through funds provided by the Office of Special Education and administered by Missouri Assistive Technology (MoAT). Additional program information and the link to the program application are located at www.at.mo.gov/at-reimbursement-for-schools/.
