Parents' Point of View (PPOV) Series

The Department of Mental Health, Children's Office, presents Parents' Point of View \(PPOV\) Series.

Have you ever wondered what parents would like you to know? In this engaging series, we sit down with parents to ask their insights on raising children with developmental disabilities. Candid short interviews with JJ Gossaru, LCSW, Director of Young Adult Services. Highlight parents sharing their experiences on topics such as what they wished they would've known earlier, life through their children's lens, words of wisdom to newer parents, and advice for healthcare professionals, school personnel, family members, and friends. Check it out! We think you will enjoy listening to PPOV.
